

Handwritten text in Chinese characters, likely a signature or a name, written in a cursive style. The characters are arranged in a vertical column, with some characters appearing to be crossed out or corrected. The text is written in black ink on a white background.

